Introduction

Every person has everything you need to be healthy, to independently adjust your energy. A person needs to know the energy structure of his body and be able to use it.

The primary basis of all life is a single energy-informational field of the Universe. The consciousness of each person is only a part of this unified energy-informational field. And the cause of all our illnesses, sufferings, problems is not at all in the physical body, as many mistakenly think. This reason lies in our energy component, or rather, in the wrong circulation of energy - that energy, which is the true essence of man.

To provide patients with quality care, you first need to understand how all the problems in the human body arise.

Barbara Ann Brennan's Handbook of Human Energy Field Healing, Hands of Light, Chapter 7 - Human Energy Body or Aura, describes the seven-layer system of the auric body. In addition to the physical body we see, there is a group of bodies invisible to ordinary vision. The sevenfold human constitution includes 7 bodies.

one. Physical body Is what we see.

2. Etheric or vital body - this is the body that we feel. If there are no irritants on the physical body (free radicals, viruses, fungi, etc.), then our etheric body signals - normal, i.e. comfortable enough.

3. Astral or emotional body. If the physical and etheric bodies pure, then our emotions are more with a positive bias. We think - it's not so bad, there have been worse situations.

4. Mental body or intellect. If in the first three bodies of violations no, then we direct our mental energy (thoughts are material) to the realization of our goals and objectives, think over a plan of action, and after a while our thoughts begin to be realized.

five. Causal or karmic body. This is a soul memory of how we lived and what they thought about in past incarnations. You need to work with the karmic body carefully, but more on that below.

6. Buddhic or intuitive body. This is when we understand with our souls how to act in a given situation. And very often, not understanding the reason, we act only this way and not otherwise.

7. Atmic body. This is the spirit of a person or a divine body. Spark God, which is in each of us and is qualitatively equal to God, but because of its complexes (karmic body), because of the blockade of intuition (buddhic body), it seems to us that this is not about us.

The monad that unites the upper three bodies - karmic, intuitive and atmic - passes into the next incarnations. This is our soul. The Monad descends into the lower worlds and regions, into the physical body, in order to continue its evolution and gain the experience of assimilating the lower matter.

All changes in the physical body are preceded (i.e. appear earlier) by certain changes in more subtle bodies. Each subtle body protects and controls the previous one.

And now let's figure out the diagram of the structure of our living space.

Rice. one

In fig. 1 is a schematic representation of our living space. We see with our eyes only the physical body, which is located in the center of our shell. The shell itself is represented by the bodies listed above. There are two "windows" in our living space. Below is the entry window for the energy of the earth, i.e. the ascending stream, which gives us vitality, the strength of emotions, thoughts, feelings, the ability to stand firmly on our feet. This flow rises along the spine from bottom to top and exits through the upper window. Above - the space energy entry window, i.e. the downward flow, which gives us the energy of awareness, i.e. understanding and psychological assessment of the events taking place with us. This stream descends along the spine from top to bottom and exits through the lower window. That is, our main bioenergy channel is a kind of energy river, consisting of two currents. And from this main river "streams" go to each of our organs (liver, kidneys, heart, etc.). The energy of two streams must be present in the work of each of our organs. If there are no obstacles to the movement of energy along the spine, then all our organs have enough energy for normal functioning.

Now imagine that the windows in our living space are dirty and do not allow enough energy to pass through. That is, there is not enough light in our living space, it is dark. We do not see our living space, we feel it through the etheric body. And we feel that there are many dark corners in it where someone can hide. There is no feeling - "my home is my fortress." In order for this feeling to appear, and with it calmness came to our "home", you just need to wash the windows. But no mistress can wash two windows at once! And here we have to weigh everything and figure out - where to start cleaning in our house.

If we argue according to the classical scheme (see above), then the primary source of all problems is in the atmic body. And at first glance, you need to start with it. But only at first glance. Figurative comparison - imagine that we are in a dark room and go outside on a sunny day. The first reaction is that I don't see anything! And at this moment we can be knocked down, injured, etc. So, to prevent this from happening, you first need to stand firmly on your feet, i.e. restore vital energy. Therefore, the bottom window must be washed first. There is even an expression - "in a healthy body - a healthy mind", and not vice versa.

Now let's figure out who owes what to whom. If a person has a layer of dirt on the atmic window, who does he interfere with? Only to the person himself! Who should wash it? Only the person himself (after all, we do not go to wash the windows of our neighbors)! Why are we, information therapy physicians, needed? We must teach a person how he can do it himself! And in order to do it well, you must first restore yourself! You need to go all this way yourself, and only after that we will know where to take our patients! No doctor will raise a person higher than himself! Therefore, we must always be several steps ahead, so as not to lead a person in the wrong direction. We figured it out - until the person himself expresses the intention "I don't want to live in the old way", no one is able to help him. This explains the failure in the treatment of patients.

Now let's figure out how diseases are formed in our body. If there is dirt on the upper (atmic) window, it gives a "shadow" to all our underlying bodies. The next body is buddhic, if there is not enough energy of awareness, then we have a blockade of intuition. There is no intuition - karma begins to form when a person in the same type of situations acts the same way and cannot look at it (the situation) from a different angle, cannot find another way out (i.e. steps on the same rake). And then there is a "shadow" on the lower four bodies. And in the shadow areas of our physical body, various parasites, toxins are hiding, in general, all the dirt accumulates.

I want to dwell on the karmic body in more detail. It is in it that all our complexes nest. To begin with, the soul of each person has many directions for its development (we can embroider, dance well, cook, sing beautifully, etc.). That is, we have a lot of spiritual sprouts. Now imagine a meadow with stones. After all, grass does not grow through a stone. But if you remove the stone, then there are many sprouts and roots under it. The sun, air and water will do their job - in a couple of weeks it is not visible that there were stones lying here. So, the complexes in our karmic body are the same stones in the meadow. It is they who do not allow us to develop some kind of spiritual qualities and we cannot be harmoniously developed people. This means that these stones must be removed from the soul. The question is how? For this we have a selector,

I have been working with the karmic body of patients since September 2004. I want to share my best practices. At first it was scary - you have to work very carefully with your soul. But gradually, ways began to emerge on how to do this with minimal losses for a person. I emphasize once again you need to work with karma very carefully, you can only remove the active program (that is, the one that interferes with living at a given moment in time). After all, karma - this is our foundation, if we start to disassemble it from below, then everything can collapse. On the basis of karmic memory, we build our life in this incarnation - we choose a life partner, raise children, choose a profession, etc. If you remove inactive programs that do not interfere with living at the moment, you can bring a person into conflict with the social environment. We have changed, we have a different vision of the world, our life partner, children (who raised you like that?) Has become annoying, we no longer like work - we walk as if from under a stick ... And since our social environment does not allow us to change everything with one stroke of the pen, then the person develops a neurosis-like state. I have learned to calculate an active karmic program according to certain control criteria, which are in our selector.

What else has been calculated by the karmic body. It has 33 energy petals. Our negative thoughts get entangled in these petals, push them apart, make the karmic body loose. For example, in the karmic body there is a negative program of "remorse". We can always find something to scold ourselves for. And if we scold ourselves mentally often, then this program becomes even larger. There is a program "low self-esteem" - and we always misjudge our strengths, are afraid to take some step forward, and, therefore, do not develop. And so on ... That is, the karmic body is a relationship with the social environment, we only absorb all the negative from it. To prevent this from happening, we need to remove these programs from our living space. And then, where the stones lay, you need to "grow" those spiritual qualities, which previously could not develop due to these negative programs. And for this we also have a selector, it contains a group of drugs "Medpharma", a subfolder

"Psychosocloading". We choose the spiritual quality that is most relevant for a person at the moment, and "water" it with a specific fertilizer. Our soul perfectly resonates with the informational preparations from the selector. When we close all the cavities in the karmic body, it becomes subtle. And the more subtle the energy body is, the more powerful it is in its strength.

The knowledge that there are 33 layers in the karmic body allows the cleansing of the karmic space to be carried out in a planned way. For example, let's define that the first negative program occupies the bottom 10 layers. (Calculate mentally - if our subconscious mind is competently asked a question, then we will receive and correct answer. The subconscious knows everything!)

We picked up a drug from the selector, mentally worked out the scheme. All drugs with a psychological bias work from 2 to 3 months. If someone says that yesterday I thought so, and tomorrow I will think so - it is impossible! You need to learn a different vision of the world around you. Therefore, it takes an average of 2-3 months to develop one complex. There are options - either less or more than this period. Everything is strictly individual! Then we test the second karmic program. For example, it takes from 11 to 23 layers. We carry out similar work. And only with the next preparation we remove the remaining complexes (from 24 to 33 layers). Clearing the karmic space takes 5-6 months of such work. Next, we start forming karmic space. We remove the consequences of programs negative for a given person. The karmic space is filled from the outer layers (33) to the inner layers (1). Moreover, it is not we, the doctors, who are working out, but the patient himself. We only give hints to his subconscious mind what to do at this stage.

Below I will give a test sequence, which control criteria work at each stage.

After cleansing the karmic space, helping him to restore undeveloped spiritual qualities, it is possible to notice how much calmer and more balanced the patient becomes. How happy he is that earlier in such situations he simply entered into some kind of stupor. And now he begins to deal with the series of events quite simply.

But until we remove the "shadow" from the atmic window, there is a danger of returning problems, first of the psychological plane ("all diseases from the nerves"), and then worsening on the physical plane. Very often, with our living space restored to the karmic body, it is possible to remove the problems of both the buddhic and atmic bodies with one preparation. What pointers work here - just below.

After opening the "window" on the atmic body, when the light of awareness has entered our living space, our immune system begins to see what used to be in the shadows. It remains for us to help the body get rid of these problems. Here nosodotherapy has become very often used.

Now let's dwell on the algorithm for managing the patient from the very first appointment. We restore the first four bodies, when at the first two receptions we remove the intoxication with free radicals, at the third reception we work to change the program in the DNA (work with miasms), wait for a partial replacement of the body's structures (from 2 to 5 months) and work with deep mycoses. The description of this algorithm is in the materials of the conference for 2005. At each appointment, I now only do one drug. I do not deal with external loads separately, but I define the key problem, i.e. the main focus of disharmony in our living space. It is from him that energy "waves" radiate, which give malfunctions in the work of organs either close to the focus of excitation, or energetically connected with it.

At this stage of work, I consider the main control criteria to be:

1. Amount of cu pineal gland that the patient can withstand.
2. Indicators BI and FI (I am guided by the worst).
3. Indicators on morphological scales - Hekla Lava and Acidum

Fluoricum (also look at the worst). I measure morphological scales at all four diagnostic levels.

I select the drug through Ferrum Metallicum D60. The optimal step can be determined through Cuprum met D400. Most often at this stage I work with preparations of rezoplexes, HS-complexes. Recently, often at the first stage, one has to work with psychological drugs (Bach Flowers, "Medpharma" - "psychosocnloading", "Rostok", SDA). stage indicators usually come out with the following individual fluctuations):

After working through this (small

1. The pineal gland is usually the patient "holds" D400.
2. BI regardless of age becomes 1. FI also regardless of age becomes 0.
3. By morphological scales - at the first diagnostic level usually 25, on all other 23 on both scales. Selecting the drug, I bring the first level to 23, but after working off the next drug, it again bounces to the upper limit of the norm - 25.

The next step is to start working with karmic space. At this stage, I consider the main control criteria:

1. The morphological scale is 25 at the first level. I always pick up a drug that brings you to 23 ("golden" mean) at the first level and maintains the 23 achieved at the previous stages at all other levels.
2. Reserves of adaptation. By the beginning of this stage of work at the first at the diagnostic level, they are in the lower indicators (often drying up), but at levels 2-3-4 they are already holding at a very high 5th degree.

I select the drug through Ferrum Metallicum D60. The optimal step can be determined through the Cuprum met. D400. The most common indication of a problem is "indication of autoaggression" and "indication of allergic inflammation" in the minimal test set. It is through these pointers that I calculate karmic complexes.

When forming karmic space, I also use Ferrum Metallicum D60. An indicator of the problem is most often "bacterial infections" from the minimum test kit, although viral and microbial-parasitic burdens can be determined. With the epiphysis D400, I regard these markers as cavities in the thin bodies for possible invasion by infectious agents, which remained after the removal of karmic programs. And the sooner we fill them in, the more protected our patient will be from external negatives. At this stage, I mainly work with the drugs of the company "Medpharma" ("psychosocnloading").

After working out the karmic space, the indicators become as follows:

1. The patient's pineal gland is holding D400.
2. BI is usually stored 1. FI - 0.
3. Morphological scales for all four diagnostic levels become 23.
4. The reserves of adaptation at the first diagnostic level reach high 4-5 degrees or even higher, at other diagnostic levels they remain very high 5 degrees.

Then you can work with the upper bodies. Control criteria for this stage:

1. It is necessary to save all the previously restored indicators (BI, FI, morphoscales), so I measure them at each appointment.
2. I consider the main criteria at this stage to be restoration to ideal indicators of the pineal gland D400-800-2000.
3. Adaptation reserves (RA) - up to very high 5th degree at all levels.
4. The level of health (US) - up to 1/1 on all four diagnostic levels.

The pointers to the problem at this stage are Argentum Nitrikum C44 (buddhic body) and Argentum Nitrikum C52 (atmic body). They are located in the "adaptation reserves" folder in the first window of the program. I build, as always, a triangle: pointer - target organ - medication. I work out the scheme of the selected drug and check the correctness of the selection through the control criteria.

At this stage, picking up metallicum D60 through Ferrum is not rational. The optimal step can be determined through Cuprum Met D400.

After working off the upper bodies, the indicators become as follows:

1. Epiphysis D 400-800-2000.
2. BI 1, FI 0.
3. Morphological scales at all diagnostic levels 23 ("golden mean").
4. RA at all levels is very high 5 degrees.
5. KM at all levels 1/1.

Next, we remove those problems that the body has not seen before.

At the next stage, the control criterion is ependymal tissue. In our selector, this tissue is presented in a single version - in the third window of the program, the folder "indication of CNS tumors", Ependymoma D32. I believe that at this stage we start working with water molecules in our body. And even easier - we align the magnetic center of our body. Why are we talking specifically about water molecules? A water molecule, if it is not deformed, is a dipole, one edge of which has a "+" charge, and the other "-". If the dipoles of water have a clear location along the magnetic poles (in our situation - from one window to another), then the electromagnetic waves, which represent the energy flows of the earth and space, pass through our body unhindered. If water molecules are "deformed" by some external or internal negative, then electromagnetic waves form "swirls" in our living space. It is these swirls that we feel as discomfort. It is easier to pick up the drug on the tissue with the most water molecules. So, the largest concentration of water molecules in our body is just the cerebrospinal fluid, or CSF. And it is the ependymal tissue that produces it.

Pointer to the problem at this stage are disturbances in the circulation of energy along the meridians (folder "FM and MCP meridian chords", subfolder "meridians" in the first window of the program). The target organ is determined through the organopreparation. Most often, at this stage, the target organ is the entire nervous system (I usually look through the assembled ampoule "nerves-sense organs"). And medicines at this stage, most often, are nosodes from the general list of medicines, which must be recorded in an inversion cup (I determine mentally). Targeting of drugs is carried out with a single dose (by the number of balls) and the method of preparation of the drug (in which container of the selector to write down). Having picked up the medication, I once again double-check it according to the control criterion - whether it restores the ependyma's work.

At the next stage, the control criterion is "Krexevan D100", it is located in the first window of the program, in the "Immunodeficiency" folder. The pointer to the problem here is determined strictly individually. It was not possible to identify any regularities in the definition of the pointer. As always, I build a triangle: pointer - target organ - medication. And the medication at this stage is also often nosodes. I believe that the problem identified at this stage affects the overall immune response of the body to any impact.

I don't think it makes sense to change the sequence of therapy. Working according to a certain system, it is possible to restore a single frequency corridor of the living space of a particular person (according to A.E. Kudaev). By giving the patient's subconscious one specific task at each stage, we get a very deep working out of this problem. If we give our subconscious mind a lot of tasks, then we may not get the desired deep result. (A figurative example is when five people in one ear each say their own problem, we say: "Stop! One at a time!", Because you cannot listen attentively to five at once). Our subconscious mind already has a lot of work, and if we give it 5 more tasks, it won't really do anything, there will be continuous imperfections that will emerge at the first opportunity.

Concerning external loads (EMN, RN and GPN), I argue as follows. We are born on earth. The earth has a natural radioactive and electromagnetic background. If we accumulate external loads, it means that in our living space there are some clues on which external loads settle. Restoring our living space, starting with the physical body and ending with the atmic one, we just remove these clues. And then no external negative can settle in our field of protection. This is a single frequency corridor for each individual person.

According to the proposed algorithm, the following number of patients was carried out for 3.5 years (from May 2003 to February 2007):

The therapy of miasms was prepared and carried out - 828 people; of them - 491 people were treated for deep mycoses; of them - cleaning and the formation of karmic space - 433 people; of them - work was done with the atmic body - 299 people; of them - work was carried out with the installation of a magnetic center - 212 people; of them - work was carried out with the removal of immunosuppression - 71 people.

I would like to express once again my deep gratitude to the entire team of the IMEDIS Center for the opportunity of creative work, for the opportunity for all of us to exchange practical developments at annual conferences and practical seminars.
