In the course of treatment, the following were used: EPT, exogenous and on endogenous BRT, BRT to the tested meridians using allopathic, homeopathic medicines, as well as their electronic counterparts, BRT according to the "golden section" using frontal electrodes. OBR and BSR preparations; induction therapy. Drainages of the ONOM company and immunocorrectors were widely used. A 7-day course of cleansing the body was used according to the methods of O. I. Eliseeva with the use of collecting herbs, irrigation of the intestines, classical massage, and therapeutic gymnastics. There were lectures on spiritual cleansing.

The results of treatment were assessed by the ART method, the general condition of the body, clinical analyzes (laboratory, ultrasound, X-ray, computer, ECG, gastroscopy, blood pressure control, etc.).

As a result of the therapy, 36 people recovered, a marked improvement - in 233 people, an improvement - in 111 people, a slight improvement - in 27 people, no changes - 17 people, worsening - in 4 people.

Conclusions: the use of multiresonance therapy in the treatment of severe chronic patients contributes to a faster recovery and improvement of the body's condition.
