

Several new cases of restoration and correction of mental and spiritual balance in a group of patients

In the past year, we continued to work on correcting the mental and spiritual balance in middle-aged patients and should note that, thanks to the already existing experience, quite often we manage to achieve the appearance of the first positive changes in a much shorter time, and the results become more effective and stable.

We continue to use the MINI-EXPERT-DT and IMEDIS-BRT-A devices at our disposal, which allows us to carry out therapy with exogenous frequencies (in particular, in the form of programs) and produce the necessary energy-information drugs.

The examples given below may not be as vivid as the previous ones, but they certainly testify to the real beneficial effects of frequency therapy and energy-informational treatment.

Patient M., 42 years old, found herself in a rather difficult life situation, was forced to take three children and move from her husband's apartment in the capital to the countryside (in fact, to a heated dacha). At the same time M. had a minimum of funds, i.e. experienced serious financial difficulties. However, M. categorically refused to talk about the reasons for such drastic changes in her life, asking only for help, in the sense that in the current situation she needed almost any support.

For treatment, we immediately chose several programs that, in our opinion, proved to be the most effective, and over the course of three summer months we spent five sessions, while the two main programs did not change, adjusting only the intensity, and the third program was chosen depending on the state of health. . and the nuances of the situation at each individual meeting.

Almost immediately, M. confirmed a general improvement in well-being and mood, and after the second session, there were positive changes in social terms.

Simultaneously with exogenous therapy and in order to consolidate the necessary stable positive reaction of the "blonde" in our patient [1], we prepared for M. a special homeopathic grits, which she took every time she felt the need to come to us, but could not do it.

The school year began in the fall, the patient's children went to school, and our meetings temporarily stopped, but we keep in touch and are always ready to provide urgent support if necessary.

Patient E., also 42 years old, for several years in a row, regularly got into stressful situations, including those associated with the peculiarities of the profession (E. is a private entrepreneur), and as a result, she absolutely "neglected" her health.

Last year, as a result of the next "cataclysms", E.

added another 5 kg, E. decided to go in for sports (brisk walking in the fresh air), but physical exercises only exacerbated the situation, since the patient's joints experienced significant and abnormal loads for her genotype, blood pressure remained constantly high, shortness of breath and dizziness did not go away, and the excess weight continued to increase due to the fact that fats and toxins were not excreted, but at the same time the muscle mass began to grow.

We categorically recommended that E. "forget the past," reconsider her position in life and extract at least some personal benefit from everything that has happened to her recently.

As it turned out, the changes, which at first glance seemed to E. absolutely negative, in fact allowed our patient to reallocate working hours and regularly allocate about an hour almost every day for frequency therapy, meditation and auto-training. Was developed a special course that gradually combined with light gymnastic body tone. E.'s came up with exercises to mood has improved, by additional maintain reorganization of his activity, there are positive changes in general well-being, the pressure has dropped, dizziness has practically disappeared.

Patient T., 54 years old, a literary man, a fine and gifted person, experienced a rather serious internal crisis associated with family discord and peculiarities of the character of the child (daughter), who absolutely does not want to listen to the advice of her mother. This affected both well-being and creativity, and, accordingly, aggravated many professional issues and already existing health problems.

We did not have the opportunity to meet, as we live in different cities, however, we sent materials to T. on our favorite area of "blondes" and talked about the wonders and possibilities of bioresonance therapy.

Our correspondence coincided with the holding in the city where T. lives and works, an exhibition of watercolors by S.N. Andriyaki, some of which were examined at the IMEDIS Center last year [2], and we advised T. to visit this exhibition in order to get positive emotions. Inspired by the exposition, T. published an excellent article about bioresonance and the influence of objects, and after a while even turned to one of the doctors practicing in the city, working with the IMEDIS equipment.

T. diligently followed all the prescriptions, and at the same time adhered to one wonderful diet, as a result of which, in less than six months, she turned into a real young beauty, "dropping" at least 15 kg!

We should also note that changes are also taking place in T.'s personal life, but now it is too early to talk about it, and we sincerely hope that T. will overcome all obstacles and, like a "real blonde", will enjoy life and enjoy its every beautiful moment.

In conclusion, I would like to cite some comments from our patient V. [3], whom we sincerely thank for the kind words:

"I've been a blonde for a year now. This is a state of mind, not a hair color. During

Of "blonde life" relations with people and with the outside world have changed. My son is a transitional age, but I manage to lead his upbringing, thanks to the fact that, having become a blonde, I know what I want, and I have clear tasks, I have become consistent. The son knows if the mother has established the rules, then they are binding. Mistakes, of course, also happen, but now I see them and correct them in a timely manner. Relationships with people develop the way I imagine them, and it is already difficult for the environment to impose "their own game" on me, since I play by my own rules. I learned to appreciate myself, to be firm, defending my position, and opponents feel it perfectly. Life has become interesting, events, like in a kaleidoscope, change, I have more time and have ceased to be bored. The most faithful and lasting feeling is self-love. Have the most exciting romance - romance with yourself. Allow yourself ordinary magic - change your hair color, change, build your own life. "
