In the period 2015–2016. 191 people turned to our office for medical help. Of these: 42 children, 95 women, 54 men.

Clinical examples

1. V.R., 18 years old. Has complained of an allergy that appears when contact with cats: watery eyes, red eyes, itching, sneezing. At home he keeps a cat of hairless breed "Sphynx". The girl was diagnosed with toxoplasma. They offered both the girl and the cat to undergo treatment with frequency programs in order to avoid re-infection. The cat on treatment behaved no worse than a person. The cat spent the first session in the hands of the hostess. Through the hostess she was diagnosed. Toxoplasmosis was confirmed. The second and subsequent sessions the hostess and the cat were treated separately from each other on different devices of the IMEDIS Center, and for an hour the cat peacefully slept in the wires, did not try to escape. The girl's allergy has passed, and a stable remission has come.

2. I.S., 10 years old. The boy came to his grandmother for the summer. Picked up on the street kitten brought home. The boy's grandmother turned to the office with a request to check both the boy and the kitten for parasites. The kitten's eyes were festering, the coat was dull, and the behavior was sluggish. The child and the kitten were diagnosed simultaneously through the boy. Further treatment was carried out simultaneously by both, but separately on different devices. After the course of treatment, the kitten was unrecognizable: the coat shone, his eyes cleared, he seemed to instantly wiser - this is how his behavior changed. The boy made a friend and kept his health.

3. NP, 12 years old, Snezhinsk. Was treated in our office for invasions, including including from toxoplasmosis and ascariasis. Together with her, her adult cat was treated. He asked for treatment himself: after seeing the hostess's fees, he climbed into the travel bag without an invitation.

Output

Diagnostics and treatment with IMEDIS devices are effective for both humans and animals. Moreover, cats like to be treated with IMEDIS. This fact further convinces us of the indisputable superiority of this treatment over other methods of treatment and prevention of diseases.
