

20th anniversary of the Moscow International Homeopathic Conference (1991–2010)

V.S. Mishchenko, A.V. Patudin
(Moscow Homeopathic Center, Moscow)

In the 80s of the twentieth century, a new rise in interest in the homeopathic method of treatment began in Russia, which began to restore its position in the health care system as a paid medical service. By the decision of the leadership of Moscow at the intersection of Entuziastov Highway and 2nd Vladimirskaya Street in 1983–85, a building was reconstructed, which housed a homeopathic polyclinic (since 1990, the Moscow homeopathic center) and a pharmacy, and in 1987 a new building was built for a homeopathic hospital. On July 10, 1990, after 50 years of prohibition, the Russian Homeopathic Society was established (registered by the Ministry of Justice of the RSFSR on April 12, 1991).

On January 27, 1991, on the initiative of the Moscow Homeopathic Center and the homeopathic company "Similia", the first "1st Moscow Homeopathic Conference" was held in the hall of the Sport Hotel on Leninsky Prospekt in Moscow (currently there is no building). Despite the limited opportunities of the organizers of the conference (only 7 reports were made), 66 people from 40 cities of the Soviet Union took part in it. January 17-18, 1992 conference "Medicine of the XXI century. Allopathy - Homeopathy. The Synthesis Experience" took place in the Izmailovo hotel complex.

In subsequent years, despite the periodically occurring political and economic crises, annually, at the end of January, doctors, pharmacists, university professors, scientists, students and everyone interested in homeopathy gathered at the Central House of Scientists to participate in the Moscow International Homeopathic Conference "Development of the Homeopathic Method in modern medicine". Over the past 10 years, the founders of the conference are the Moscow Department of Health, the Moscow Homeopathic Center, the Russian Homeopathic Society and the Russian Academy of Natural Sciences.

On January 22-23, 2010, despite the outbreak of the next world economic crisis, the 20th Moscow International Homeopathic Conference was held, in which more than 800 doctors, pharmacists, veterinarians, researchers, teachers of higher medical, pharmaceutical and veterinary medicine took part. Educational institutions, healthcare organizers from Moscow, St. Petersburg and 34 other regions of the Russian Federation, as well as from Belarus, Great Britain, Germany, Georgia, Israel, Italy, Uzbekistan, Ukraine, Switzerland, Estonia.

From the data shown in Table 1, it can be seen how the content was gradually formed and the forms of the conference were worked out, the number of collective and individual participants, manufacturers of homeopathic medicines and publishing houses of homeopathic literature increased.

At plenary and breakout sessions, seminars and symposia, round tables of all conferences, reports are heard and discussed on topical issues of theory and methodology of homeopathy, history of homeopathy in Russia, experimental research, clinical homeopathic practice, homotoxicology, anthroposophic medicine, veterinary homeopathy, homeopathic pharmacy, preclinical and clinical studies of complex homeopathic medicines, electropuncture diagnostics, bioresonance therapy and pulse-hemoindication, the issues of educational activities in the field of homeopathy were repeatedly discussed. In just 20 years, 1685 reports and reports were heard.

Since 1995, annually by the beginning of the conference, a collection of abstracts has been published, since 1997 - a collection of "Homeopathic Yearbook", where the main materials of the conference are published.

Within the framework of the conference, exhibitions of homeopathic medicines produced and by leading domestic foreign manufacturers are held annually, homeopathic literature and medical and diagnostic equipment, presentation of new computer programs and projects on homeopathy.

It has become a good tradition to hold presentations at the conference of books written by members of the Russian Homeopathic Society:

- Timoshenko I.V. "Textbook of classical homeopathy (philosophy, methodology, practical recommendations)", 1994;

- Timoshenko I.V. "Guide to Homeopathy" (professional repertory) "in 3 volumes, 1993;

- Patudin A.V., Mishchenko V.S., Ilyenko L.I. "Homeopathic medicines, permitted in the Russian Federation for use in health care and veterinary medicine", 1998, 2001, 2005, 2008;

- Ageenko A.I. "New cancer diagnostics: theory, diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation", 2005;

- Roller I.S. "Fundamentals of Clinical Pharmacology of Organopreparations", 2005;

- Butenin A.M. "The Moon over the Range", 2006;

- Patudin A.V., Tereshina N.S., Mishchenko V.S., Ilyenko L.I. "Biologically active substances of homeopathic medicinal raw materials", 2009 and many others.

In recent years, films made by members of the Russian Geographical Society have been shown at the plenary sessions: "II (III) Russian Homeopathic Congress in St. Petersburg"; "Non-drug methods in pediatric cardiology"; "Hieromartyr Seraphim (Chichagov) and healing" and others.

The Russian Homeopathic Society at conferences constantly celebrates memorable dates in the history of Russian homeopathy, and its members deliver reports on the life and work of prominent homeopathic doctors: N.M. Vavilova, V.I.Varshavsky, S.A. Mukhina, T.M. Lipnitsky. ., Lipnitskiy D.T. and others. Within the framework of the conference, leading domestic and foreign homeopaths hold master classes annually.

In 2009, the conference was attended by the President of the International Medical Homeopathic League, Mr. Ulrich Fischer, who made a presentation at the plenary session "Modern trends in the activities of the International Medical Homeopathic League", attended the regular congress of the Russian Homeopathic Society and presented certificates to 64 new members of the League from Russia.

The overwhelming number of participants in the Moscow conference believe that holding it and other similar conferences is the key to the successful introduction of homeopathy into the national health care system by progressively entering academic medicine and practical health care within the framework of the rules established by the Ministry of Health and Social Development of the Russian Federation.

In the face of homeopathy, modern medicine has gained another ally in the struggle for the health of the nation, expanded its therapeutic and diagnostic arsenal and increased the availability of medical care to the population.
